For eleven years now, the Task Force has been throwing one of the largest social events of the season. From national politicians to local VIPs, the Annual Miami Recognition Dinner always draws in a who's who of the gay community and our allies. This past Saturday night, hundreds of people flocked to the Intercontinental Hotel to pay tribute to three very special people, Jerry Chasen, Leonard Pitts Jr., and U.S. Rep. Debbie Wasserman Schultz (D-FL). All three have made outstanding contributions to the social, cultural, political and humanitarian needs of the lesbian, gay, bisexual and transgender community.

The Recognition Dinner featured two pre-dinner cocktail receptions, one exclusively for VIP ticket-holders, an awards ceremony during dinner, and dancing following the program. The Task Force also held a silent auction that included an original painting created for the occasion by local artist Noel, as well as numerous items in categories ranging from travel and spa treatments to meals and the performing arts.

Overall the event was a huge success, and we commend the Task Force on all the great work they do. Congratulations to everyone involved.
